Robin,

I have attached the order for Docket 00-00572, which granted a CLEC CCN to Xspedia Corp. This company later had a name change in Docket 00-01145 ( I can't seem to find an electronic copy of the name change order, but it is referenced in our database as having occurred). This name change in 00-01145 changed their name from Xspedia Corp. to Xspedius, LLC.

I have also attached a copy of the order for 02-00714, which was titled Joint Application of ACSI, American Communications and Xspedius Management for Expedited Approval of Transfer of Assets and Discontinuance of Services in TN by the E.Spire Operating Entities. From what I can discern from this order, it transferred the CCNs of ACSI and E.Spire to Xspedius Management Company of Chattanooga, LLC and Xspeduis Management Company Switched Services, LLC.

I have also attached a copy of the order for 02-01279, titled Application for Approval of a Corporate Reorganization Resulting in a Change of Control, that resulted in a change of control of Xspeduis, LLC (formerly known as Xspedia Corp. in 00-00572) from one affiliated entity (Xspedius Holding Company, who would retain 45% ownership) to Xspedius Management Company, LLC (who would retain 55% ownership of Xspedius, LLC). Xspeduis Management Company, LLC is the parent company of the other 2 certified CLECs, Xspedius Managment Company of Chattanooga, LLC and Xspedius Management Company Switched Services, LLC. Finding number 3 on page 3 of this order states that "Majority ownership of Xspedius, LLC will be transferred from Xspedius Holding Company to Xspeius Management Company, LLC, resulting in a transfer of the authority granted Xspedius, LLC to provide utility services."

I'm guessing that this last order, 02-01279, transfered the authority of Xspedius, LLC (formerly known as Xspedia Corp.) to Xspedius Managment Company, LLC, who is the parent company of the other 2 Xspedius companies mentioned in the last paragraph.

Maybe they are now trying to tie up loose ends by requesting cancellation of the CCN of Xspedius, LLC (formerly known as Xspedia Corp.) since they already have 2 other CLEC CCNs in the names of Xspedius Management Company of Chattanooga, LLC and Xspedius Management Company Switched Services, LLC.

However, if their entire Q account with Bell is still under the name Xspedius Corp., they may need to do something about that, since they are cancelling the CCN of that company.

I hope this helps. Let me know what you find out. Thanks for all your assistance!!

Lisa
